

The Grassroots Writing Research Journal Presents: Picturing Literate Activity

Covid Comfortably

Anya Gregg

PLA Narrative: I prefer to work on everything in my bed. My family has plenty of desks and tables but I enjoy my bed because it's very comfortable and I focus best there. Usually, I would prefer a desk in a workspace or library. My bed also allows me plenty of room to spread my projects out and a nice backdrop for Zoom calls. Everyone I know is baffled by it, but it happens to be where I work best.

Pandemic Bio: Anya is an eighteen-year-old intern at the Grassroots Writing Research Journal, but because of the pandemic has to work at home.
